Description

This 2016 Aston Martin Vulcan is a breathtaking expression of engineering purity and design excellence. Finished in Special Volcano Red Metallic, this is Chassis No. 23 of just 24 ever built—a collector-grade track weapon developed with direct input from Aston Martin Racing. Powered by a naturally aspirated 7.0L V12 and constructed almost entirely from carbon fibre, the Vulcan is a pure motorsport machine designed to deliver an unfiltered driving experience like no other. Offered in museum-quality condition, this example has been meticulously maintained and is fully eligible for the AMR Vulcan Track Programme or private circuit use worldwide.
