Description

A defining icon of early Porsche design, the 1970 Porsche 911 T embodies the purity, simplicity, and driving engagement that made the original air-cooled 911 a legend. Light, communicative, and beautifully balanced, the 911 T is celebrated for delivering a more analog and soulful driving experience than many of its later, more powerful descendants. This example is finished in the sought-after Pastel Blue, complemented by a Tan leather interior, creating one of the most desirable and period-correct colour combinations of the era. Imported from Miami, this car presents extremely well and benefits from the warmer climate preservation typical of southern U.S. examples. PERFORMANCE & DRIVETRAIN: 2.2-Litre Air-Cooled Flat-Six Engine Factory output of 125 HP (Period Specification) 5-Speed Manual Transmission (Type 901) Rear-Wheel Drive Signature early 911 driving feel – light, mechanical, and direct Characteristic Weber/Zenith carburettor response EXTERIOR SPECIFICATION: Pastel Blue (Original Period Colour) Recently Restored and in Amazing Condition Original steel long-bonnet body style Chrome window frames, door handles, and light bezels Fuchs Alloy Wheels in Matte Black/Brushed Finish Iconic upright early 911 front profile Miami-imported example – typically excellent underside preservation INTERIOR SPECIFICATION: Tan Leather Interior – factory-style finish 3-Spoke Porsche/Nardi Torino Wooden steering wheel VDO Gauges with correct early green/white text style Light and airy cabin aesthetic with classic Porsche driving ergonomics Rear folding parcel shelf seats (2+2 layout) Original-style radio fitment ADDITIONAL INFORMATION: Year: 1970 Model: Porsche 911 T Exterior: Pastel Blue Interior: Tan Leather Transmission: 5-Speed Manual Drivetrain: RWD Origin: Miami, USA Import Condition: Very Presentable Example – (Comprehensive Restoration) Service Documentation: Supporting history file included Price: £99,500 Charming, elegant, and unmistakably pure in its driving experience, this 1970 Porsche 911 T in Pastel Blue represents the essence of early air-cooled Porsche engineering. The colour combination alone sets it apart, while its Miami-imported history suggests careful preservation and excellent chassis health. A highly desirable and investment-worthy classic, ideal for collectors seeking an early 911 that is both authentic and eminently enjoyable on the road.
